

You can find this scene from a play in 'Bravo, Mr William Shakespeare!' by Marcia, published by Walker Books. Can you tell which one it is and what the audience think of it?

I wonder what the child is selling from his bowl or if he is even awake?

Do you think that the columns down the side need decorating?